REPUBLICAN RULE WILL END IN DOWNFALL.

Has Failed To Keep Pledges and Has Exercised Poor Judgement in All Matters of Vital Interest to Nation; Erects Colossal Monument of Extravagance and Ignorance.

Washington, August 14.—In a pointed statement in which he said poverty, distress disorder and violence were the Four Horsemen of the Harding regime. Senator Pittman, of Nevada, bitterly assailed the Republican party. He said they had made a mess of the government and added that it would result in their downfall. Said railroad legislation was a complete fizzle and that the bonus bill was a fiasco.

Following are some of the conditions as reviewed by Senator Pittman:

Foreign relations left in chaotic condition.

Our foreign commerce—there is none.

Millionaire's taxes reduced.

The H. C. L. is still a terror.

Transportation charges are increased.

Destruction of state control of intrastate commerce.

Producer and consumer staring together.

Harding, Mellon and Wall street keep the soldier from the bonus.

The four horsemen of the Harding administration are:

Poverty,

Distress,

Disorder,

Violence.

Republican management of the affairs of the nation has been a failure, declared United States Senator Key Pittman of Nevada in an interview today.

I look for a Democratic house in the result of the coming fall election, he said, as a rebuke to Harding and his administration as a rebuke to the Republican government in the saddle for two years before Harding took office.

He will press against the four horsemen of the Harding administration.

Senator Pittman is up for re-election to the United States Senate this fall. He says that he expects to win and he looks for a Democratic wave all over the country.

These are bad days, he continues, with coal walkouts, with the road shopmen striking, with much of the after-war misery with so many hundreds of thousands out of work, with so many bridges broken, promises unfulfilled and brilliant visions of happiness, progress and prosperity changed into a mirage of plain chaos.

Senator Pittman said that he believes the coming fall election will sweep enough Democrats in the lower house of congress to make it Democratic because Republican rule has been tried and found wanting. He discussed the situation as follows:

The Republican party was placed in control of both branches of congress four years ago on certain definite pledges to the people. The members of the party accused themselves before the people for failure to fulfill these pledges for the first two years.

During: We could do nothing with a Republican president.

The Republicans pledged to the people that if put in complete power by election of Harding they would reestablish our foreign relations and foreign commerce as existed before the war.

They have failed absolute. Our foreign relations today are in a chaotic condition—more chaotic than they ever were in times past, as far as foreign commerce—we have none. We have market for our surplus products.
